Description

The Department for Digital, Culture, Media & Sport (DCMS) is offering an exciting internship opportunity for 2025. This internship will provide you with the chance to work at the intersection of digital innovation, cultural heritage, media, and sport. Interns will support the development and delivery of high-impact policies, projects, and initiatives that have a direct impact on the UK's digital economy and cultural landscape. This is an ideal role for individuals eager to contribute to public service while gaining valuable experience in a dynamic government environment.

Responsibilities

- Support policy research and development across a wide range of areas within digital, culture, media, and sport.
- Contribute to the drafting of policy briefs, reports, and presentations for senior leaders.
- Assist in data collection, analysis, and the preparation of insights to inform policy recommendations.
- Help organize and participate in stakeholder meetings, workshops, and conferences related to DCMS's areas of focus.
- Conduct research on emerging trends in the digital, cultural, and media sectors to inform strategic initiatives.
- Provide administrative support to project teams, ensuring efficient and timely delivery of key outputs.
- Collaborate with colleagues to ensure alignment of projects with DCMS's strategic goals and priorities.
- Help coordinate internal communications, ensuring stakeholders are kept informed of project developments.
- Engage with external partners, industry bodies, and other government departments to build relationships and support collaboration on key initiatives.

Qualifications

- Currently enrolled in or recently graduated from a university program, preferably in digital media, cultural studies, public policy, communications, or a related field.
- Strong academic performance (minimum 2:1 degree or equivalent).
- An understanding of the digital, culture, media, and sport sectors is an advantage but not required.
- Passion for innovation, culture, media, and public policy development.

Experience

- Previous internship or work experience in the public sector, media, technology, or cultural industries is desirable, but not required.
- Demonstrable ability to conduct research and produce clear, concise written content.
